JULY RACES.

Horse and bleycle races will be pulled off here on July 4th, and some rare sport is expected to be had. The horse races will be at the new park of the Hampton Roads Driving Club, at Riverview, and the bleycle races will be at the old Greenlawn track. Horses from Baltimore, Norfolk and other places will be among the entries for the day.

This week will be a record breaker for exports and imports from this port in the summer season. Five regular cargo ships arrived last week, and the forces at the custom-house and shipping offices have been kept busy. The figures for this week will run unusually high.

MILITARY INSPECTION.

The Huntington Rifes and the Newport News Light Infantry were inspected tonight at the new armory by regular army officers from Washington, this being the first annual inspection under the Dick military bill. The companies have been in their large new armory only a few days, consequently the inspectors found the solders in rather confused surfoundings, but both companies had a full attendance and made an excellent showing.

FROM FOUR WINDS OF HEAVEN.
"The old boys have come back from the four winds of heaven," said General Shipp to-night, and he is delighted. Pride in cadets of the past and present and in the great institution over which he presides was never so strongly manifested by the beloved superintendent than now, as he sees the sons of the institute coming back, evidencing the love they still bear the old alma mater.

General Shipp will head the parade of the New Market survivors to-morrow. He was commandant of the corps in the charge. The New Market battallon will then be reviewed by Governor Montague. The survivors will be formed as they were in the New Market charge. The ceremonies attending the dedication of the battle monument will begin at 10:30 c'clock. Rev. Dr. R. J. McBryde, of Lexington, will make the prayer. Hon. A. C. Gordon, of Staunton, will read a memorial ode. Dr. John N. Upshur of Richmend, a New Market cadet, will make the dedicatory address, and Hon. Holmes Conrad, of Winchester, will also make a short speech. The alumni banquet to-morrow night will be the occasion for addresses by many well known Virginlans.

Lexington is already well crowded. The hotels were full at noon. At a great many of the private houses are as many gueste as can be entertained. Many of the old boys are sleeping in barracks, and the indications are that if they continue to come in as rapidly as they have done to-day and yesterday, even accommodations at the barracks will be taxed. LEXINGTON, VA., June 22 .- New Market week at the Institute bids fair to be in many ways the most enjoyable and altogether notable period of similar length in the history of the old school. In 1889 the jubilee of the institute was celebrated and graduates were here from all over the country. That was a generol celebration and the boys were come together to talk of all the glories of their class again.

Between thirty and forty of the survivors of the famous charge are already here, and many more are on the way and will take part in the parade to-morrow. This parade or the survivors is being looked forward to with keenest anticipation. It will be unique in the history of the veterans of the war between the States, for no other school sent its corps of students to the battlefield to win victory and death.

BOARD IN SESSION.

The exercises to-day, have not been of great interest, though the session of the Board of Visitors has been most important. The board met behind closed doors, but it is understood that a great portion of the assiston was devoted to the discussion of plans for the improvement of the institute in which the public will be greatly interested when it is taken into the condence of the board. At present the members decline to give any intimation of the plans which were discussed to-day.

The members of the board present at the meeting were Messes. Alexander Hamilton, of Petersburg, president; T. W. Shelton, of Norfolk; Hooker, of Platrick county: General G. B. Wharton,
